

February, 2008

She looks so perfect! I can't believe how perfect she looks. She's not messed up or dead looking at all. I can't wait to get Chip back and see him again. It's like we never lost Minnie at all in a way. When I think of how she'd wind up had we buried her lost forever and never see her again looking like this I'm so glad this was available to do to keep her forever.

Thank you so much! I'll get E.T. , my pug to you as soon as I can. She's our 10yr old blind Pug that died last summer of heart failure and is still in the freezer. We just didn't expect to lose Chip of cancer so unexpectedly or we would've sent her next. But I'll get her to you asap so they can both be coming home closer together. Thank you again so much for all your services and any time any of our pets passes away (and we have many pets) we'll call you to make them beautiful forever so we won't ever have to say goodbye completely again.

Tammy

P.S. My mother was fighting cancer when we brought Minnie to our home. It was during those last four months they told her she had to live and Minnie was her constant companion because she was sickly at the time too. They stayed together. We buried my mom with Minnie's original ID tag and her little t shirt she had to wear because she had no hair when we got her. It was especially hard losing Minnie after my mom because of how close she was to her. It's in a way like we're glad we saved my mom's little dog from being lost forever because she was special to her. Thank you again.